Appendix A: Short Eligibility Survey

Thank you for your interest in sharing your story with us. Through a range of focus groups and interviews, this project aims to better understand how men in Australia who are aged 18 to 35 years talk about and approach decisions regarding sex, consent and intimacy. Due to the particular focus of this study, we are seeking cisgender* heterosexual men and women living in Australia who are aged 18 to 35 years, who have engaged in casual sexual activity in the last five years. In the near future, we hope to do research that is more encompassing of other groups.

This research is conducted by [UNIVERSITY] and has been granted ethics approval [INSTITUTION/NUMBER]

To determine if you are eligible to participate please complete this short survey.

*At this point we are only looking to interview cisgender heterosexual men and women. Cisgender refers to a person who describes their gender in a way that corresponds to the sex they were assigned at birth. For example, a person who describes themselves as male or a man and was assigned male at birth (such as on their original birth certificate)
