

Supplementary material

Identification of threatened rodent species using infrared and white-flash camera traps

Phoebe A. Burns<sup>A,B,D</sup>, Marissa L. Parrott<sup>C</sup>, Kevin C. Rowe<sup>B</sup> and Benjamin L. Phillips<sup>A</sup>

<sup>A</sup>School of BioSciences, University of Melbourne, Parkville, Victoria, 3010.

<sup>B</sup>Sciences Department, Museum Victoria, GPO Box 666, Melbourne, Victoria, 3001.

<sup>C</sup>Wildlife and Conservation Science, Zoos Victoria, Elliott Ave, Parkville, Victoria, 3010.

<sup>D</sup>Corresponding author. Email: pburns@museum.vic.gov.au

Fig. S1. Image set to aid identification of rodent species.

Smoky mouse

(Pseudomys fumeus)

New Holland mouse

(Pseudomys novaehollandiae)

House mouse (Mus musculus)

Bush rat

(Rattus fuscipes)

Black rat

(Rattus rattus)

