

Acknowledgement of The Crawford Fund

The publication of this book would not have been possible without the generous assistance of The Crawford Fund whose mission is to increase Australia's engagement in international agricultural research, development and education for the benefit of developing countries and Australia.

It is well demonstrated that educating handlers on animal welfare and behaviour has positive impacts on both the animals and workers. The aim of this book is to do just that.