

90 Editorials*From the Editor

Population and individual health: the two faces of Janus
Felicity Goodyear-Smith

92 Original Scientific Papers*Quantitative Research

- 92 Aspirin for primary prevention: yes or no?
Vanessa Selak, C Raina Elley, Sue Wells, Anthony Rodgers, Norman Sharpe
- 100 What resources do Auckland general practitioners use for answering immediate clinical questions and for lifelong learning?
Zachary Gravatt, Bruce Arroll
- 105 Causes of excess hospitalisations among Pacific peoples in New Zealand: implications for primary care
Faafetai Sopoaga, Ken Buckingham, Charlotte Paul
- 111 GP practice variation in hospitalisation rates: a study of Partnership Health-enrolled patients
Ross Barnett, Laurence Malcolm
- 118 Modifying the PACIC to assess provision of chronic illness care: An exploratory study with primary health care nurses
Jenny Carryer, Claire Budge, Chiquita Hansen, Katherine Gibbs
- 124 Providing and receiving self-management support for chronic illness: Patients' and health practitioners' assessments
Jenny Carryer, Claire Budge, Chiquita Hansen, Katherine Gibbs

Qualitative Research

- 130 Ever decreasing circles: terminal illness, empowerment and decision-making
Kate Richardson, Rod MacLeod, Bridie Kent
- 136 Seeing patients first: creating an opportunity for practice nurse care?
Tim Kenealy, Barbara Docherty, Nicolette Sheridan, Ryan Gao
- 142 What influences practice nurses to participate in post-registration education?
Anna Richardson, Jeffrey Gage

Short Report

- 150 Are unexplained vaginal symptoms associated with psychosocial distress? A pilot investigation
Andreas Cobrussen, Uzma Aslam, Allison Karasz, Matthew Anderson

155 Back to Back

New Zealand general practice should adopt population-based screening for attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD)
Yes Tony Hanne; No Ross Lawrenson

160 Continuing Professional Development

- 160 String of PEARLS about hypertension
Bruce Arroll
- 160 Cochrane Corner: NSAIDs for dysmenorrhoea
Bruce Arroll
- 161 Charms & Harms: Ginkgo
Joanne Barnes
- 163 Pounamu: A whanau ora approach to health care for Maori
Jacque Kidd, Veronique Gibbons, Ross Lawrenson, Wayne Johnstone

165 Ethics

Too much information
Grant Gillett, Donald Saville-Cook

168 Letters to the Editor*170 Book Review

Interpreting in New Zealand, the pathway forward
—Diana Clark and Caroline McGrath
Reviewer: Ben Gray

171 Policy Statement for Authors

Conflict of interest in peer-reviewed medical journals: The World Association of Medical Editors (WAME) position on a challenging problem
Lorraine Ferris, Robert Fletcher

174 Gems of New Zealand Primary Health Care Research*176 About the Journal of Primary Health Care