

266 EditorialsFrom the Editor

- 266 Improving health outcomes for populations and for people
Felicity Goodyear-Smith

- 267 Erratum: The anatomical placement of body organs by Australian and New Zealand patients and health professionals in general practice
J Prim Health Care 2012;4(3):239-41

Guest Editorial

- 268 What socioeconomic factors shall I measure and include in my analyses?
Tony Blakely

271 Original Scientific PapersQuantitative Research

- 271 Measuring socioeconomic position in New Zealand
Clare Salmond, Peter Crampton
- 281 Effectiveness of simulated clinical teaching in general practice: randomised controlled trial
C Raina Elley, Tara Clinick, Chris Wong, Bruce Arroll, John Kennelly, Henry Doerr, Fiona Moir, Tana Fishman, Simon Moyes, Ngaire Kerse
- 288 Drug safety awareness in New Zealand: public knowledge and preferred sources for information
Fredrik Brounéus, Gregory Macleod, Karyn MacLennan, Lianne Parkin, Charlotte Paul
- 294 Influence of ambient temperature on the correlation between self-monitoring of blood glucose and plasma glucose values in diabetes management
Shigesumi Kinchiku, Kazubiko Kotani, Shoko Kajiya, Kanoko Yodo, Yukiko Maruguchi, Hitosbi Uenomachi
- 299 Nutritional risk amongst community-living Maori and non-Maori older people in Hawke's Bay
Caroline McElnay, Bob Marshall, Jessica O'Sullivan, Lisa Jones, Tracy Ashworth, Karen Hicks, Rachel Forrest

Qualitative Research

- 306 Learning from people with chronic pain: messages for primary care practitioners
Claire Budge, Jenny Carryer, Julie Boddy

- 313 The Green Prescription programme and the experiences of Pacific women in Auckland
Nicola Tava'e, Vili Nosa

- 320 The Green Prescription and older adults: what do general practitioners see as barriers?
Asmita Patel, Gregory Kolt, Justin Keogh, Grant Schofield

Mixed Method Research

- 328 Can formal Collaborative methodologies improve quality in primary health care in New Zealand? Insights from the EQUIPPED Auckland Collaborative
Celia Palmer, Janine Bycroft, Kate Healey, Adrian Field, Mazin Gbafel

337 Back to Back

- 337 We should cap the health budget and spend more money on housing and food
Yes: Philippa Howden-Chapman; No: Harvey White

342 Continuing Professional Development

- 342 String of PEARLS about patient self-management
- 342 Cochrane Corner: Topical NSAIDs are probably effective for knee and hand osteoarthritis
Bruce Arroll
- 343 Vaikoloa: Can Pacific communities in New Zealand contribute to improving the health care they receive?
Faafetai Sopoaga
- 344 Nuggets of Knowledge: Aspirin—yes?—no?—maybe?
Linda Bryant
- 345 Potion or Poison? Resveratrol
Shane Scabill

346 Ethics

- 346 Valuing teaching and teaching values
Tony Harland, Neil Pickering, Lynley Anderson

348 Book Review

- 348 The Good Doctor: What Patients Want—Ron Paterson
Reviewed by Susan Hawken

349 Letters to the Editor352 About the Journal of Primary Health Care