Fourth Australian Women's Health Conference: Politics, Action and Renewal. 19-21 February 2001, Adelaide Convention Centre, South Australia. The Australian Women's Health

Network invites you to attend this exciting conference. The conference will aim to continue the development of action for women's health in Australia and to refresh and reactivate the National Women's Health Policy. We will focus on and respond to the politics of women's health work and be informed about the status of women's health both nationally and internationally. We will ask how we can strengthen the relationship between research, knowledge and practice and how we can support creative responses to women's health in practice. The conference will emphasis an inclusive and participatory approach.
