A UNI THAT KNOWS PUBLIC HEALTH

WHEN IT COMES TO CONTEMPORARY AND PRACTICAL COURSES IN PUBLIC HEALTH, AUSTRALIA'S LARGEST REGIONAL UNIVERSITY HAS YOU COVERED.

At CQUniversity, you can explore a social ecological model of public health and benefit from an approach that is strongly aligned with contemporary trends and challenges in this field. Our suite of postgraduate public health courses provide an alternative to the traditional focus on the medical model of health, incorporating a social perspective of public health skills, knowledge and practice and providing the basis of innovative interventions for social change.

Gain foundational knowledge in the origins and evolution of public health with our Graduate Certificate, or go further and explore complex adaptive systems thinking and how this influences our understanding of public health with the Graduate Diploma. Our Master of Public Health is perfect for you if you're interested in taking your knowledge a step further and applying these concepts in strengths-based and disease prevention approaches via a practice or research project.

Choose to study where and how you like – full or part time, online or on campus in Cairns, Melbourne or Sydney. However you study, you'll benefit from the support of a university committed to student success, ranked in the top two per cent worldwide*.

Apply now to start mid-year.

Australian Healthcare and Hospitals Association

Australian Health Review is the journal of the Australian Healthcare and Hospitals Association (AHHA), Australia's national peak body for public health care providers.

We are a national voice for public healthcare, advocating our vision for an effective, innovative and sustainable health system where all Australians have equitable access to healthcare of the highest standard when and where they need it. We inform, advocate and influence health debate and policy development by undertaking and promoting research, highlighting evidence-informed practice, and effectively communicating issues and ideas.

Our membership includes state health departments, Local Hospital Networks and public hospitals, community health services, Primary Health Networks and primary healthcare providers, aged care and allied health providers, health-related businesses, universities, individual health professionals and academics. As such, we are uniquely placed to be an independent, national voice for universal high quality healthcare to benefit the whole community.

Membership

Membership of AHHA is open to any organisation whose aims or activities are connected with:

- the provision of hospital or healthcare services
- the improvement of healthcare, or
- the supply of goods and services to hospitals or healthcare services

Universities or other educational organisations that offer courses of education and/or research in relevant healthcare related fields and individuals who are practitioners, employees within a relevant health field or students in a relevant field of health-related study are also welcome to join AHHA.

In addition to membership of the AHHA, organisations such as universities and institutes conducting health system research can become members of AHHA through the Deeble Institute for Health Policy Research. Deeble Institute membership confers similar benefits to AHHA membership along with the opportunity to influence and participate in the research activities of the Institute.

For further details on becoming a member of the AHHA including the fees and specific member benefits for each membership type, please visit our website at ahha.asn.au/membership.
