

PACIFIC CONSERVATION BIOLOGY

Volume 21 • Issue 1 • 2015

CONTENTS

EDITORIAL

A new era for Pacific Conservation Biology

M. Calver

1

FORUM ESSAY

Failure of science, death of nature

H. F. Recher

2

RESEARCH PAPERS

Cold-blooded indifference: a case study of the worsening status of threatened reptiles from Victoria, Australia

N. Clemann

15

Distribution, population structure, and management of a rare sandalwood (Santalum yasi, Santalaceae) in Fiji and

Tonga R. D. Huish, T. Faka'osi, H. Likiafu, J. Mateboto and K. H. Huish

27

Bárcena Volcano, 1952: a 60-year report on the repopulation of San Benedicto Island, Mexico, with a review of the ecological impacts of disastrous events

B. H. Brattstrom

38

Determinants of bird assemblage composition in riparian vegetation on sugarcane farms in the Queensland Wet Tropics

A. F. Keir, R. G. Pearson and R. A. Congdon

60

Effects of environmental variation on the composition and dynamics of an arid-adapted Australian bird community

J. E. Smith

74

Enhancing legal frameworks for biodiversity conservation in the Pacific

E. J. Techera

87

Book reviews

97

Corrigendum to: Novel use of in-stream microchip readers to monitor wild platypuses

J. W. Macgregor, C. S. Holyoake, S. Munks, J. H. Connolly, I. D. Robertson, P. A. Fleming and K. S. Warren

101