

295 Editorial

From the Editor

- 295 Health policy: articulating the vision and how to get there
S. Dovey

Letter

- 298 Chasing elimination through lockdowns is stamping out livelihoods and lives
Gerhard Sundborn, Simon Thornley, Michael Jackson, Grant Morris, Mark Blackham, Grant Schofield, Richard Doehring, Ronald Goedeke, Ananish Chaudhuri
- 301 Addendum
Gerhard Sundborn, Simon Thornley, Michael Jackson, Grant Morris, Mark Blackham, Grant Schofield, Richard Doehring, Ronald Goedeke, Ananish Chaudhuri

Letter response

- 302 Response to letter from Sundborn et al. on: 'Chasing elimination through lockdowns is stamping out livelihoods and lives'
Ian Town – Chief Science Advisor, New Zealand Ministry of Health

305 Original Scientific Papers

Original research: Clinical

- 305 High prevalence of malnutrition and frailty among older adults at admission to residential aged care
Idah Chatindiara, Jacqueline Allen, Dushanka Hettige, Stacey Senior, Marilize Richter, Marlena Kruger, Carol Wham

Original research: Clinical

- 318 Metformin adherence in patients with type 2 diabetes and its association with glycated haemoglobin levels
Lynne Chepulis, Christopher Mayo, Brittany Morison, Rawiri Keenan, Chunhuan Lao, Ryan Paul, Ross Lawrenson

Original research: Health services

- 327 Monitoring the use of dabigatran etexilate for stroke prevention: compliance with renal function guidelines
Bryan H. Simpson, David M. Reith, Natalie J. Medlicott, Alesha J. Smith

Original research: Health services

- 335 Health services for sexually transmitted infections: where are we at in New Zealand? A narrative literature review
Alesha J. Smith, Kyle J. Wilby

Original research: Health policy

- 345 Like using a refrigerator to heat food: capacity and capability funding in primary care and the legacy of the Primary Health Organisation Performance Programme
Reuben Olugbenga Ayeleke, Timothy Tenbensel, Pushkar Raj Silwal, Lisa Walton

Original research: Health policy

- 352 Blood glucose testing in the community: who are the users and do they have elevated blood glucose?
Andrew N. Reynolds, Xiao Amelie Li, Jim Mann

Original research: Workforce

- 358 'We're just seen as people that give out the methadone...': exploring the role of community pharmacists in the opioid substitution treatment team
Rebecca Lukey, Ben Gray, Caroline Morris

Original research: Short report

- 368 Macroscopic and dermoscopic evaluation used to differentiate subungual haemorrhage from melanocytic lesions
Mirain Phillips, Amanda Oakley

Original research: Short report

- 373 Repeat prescribing policy in New Zealand general practice: making it better
Steven Lillis, Liza Lack

Improving Performance

- 377 An initiative to improve equity, timeliness and access to District Health Board-funded physiotherapy in Canterbury, Christchurch, New Zealand
Lisa McGonigle, Graham McGeoch

Improving Performance

- 384 Pacific Fono: a community-based initiative to improve rheumatic fever service delivery for Pacific Peoples in South Auckland
The National Hauora Coalition, Anneka Anderson, Rachel Brown, Jadene Wheeler, Rawiri McKree Jansen

Case Report

- 391 Unilateral knee effusion in an elderly patient: an unusual presentation of rheumatoid arthritis
Morteza Khodae, Lindsay Ogle, Cleveland Piggott

395 Continuing Professional Development

Cochrane Corner

- 395 Coronavirus (COVID-19): implementation facilitators to supporting programmes for improving the resilience and mental health of frontline workers during and after an epidemic
V. Jordan

Potion or Poison?

- 397 Liquorice
N. Martini