S2. John Dallachy's collecting itinerary at Rockingham Bay

Dates and locations are based on labels on specimens collected by John Dallachy, and held mainly in the National Herbarium of Victoria. The representative specimens are identified by current name and catalogue number, and are included in the footnotes. Current names follow the Australian Plant Name Index (2019) IBIS database, Centre for Australian National Biodiversity Research, Australian Government, Canberra, <http://www.cpbr.gov.au/cgi-bin/apni>) and the Australian Plant Census (2019) IBIS database, Centre for Australian National Biodiversity Research, Council of Heads of Australasian Herbaria, <http://www.chah.gov.au/apc/index.html>. Specimen labels were viewed on JSTOR Global Plants (2019) <http://plants.jstor.org>) and additional information was sourced from specimen data in the Australasian Virtual Herbarium (2019) Council of Heads of Australasian Herbaria, <http://avh.chah.org.au>, and by personal examination of specimens in held in the National Herbarium of Victoria (MEL). The specimens cited are representative of the few to many specimens that may have been collected on the same day at the same location.

1864

Dallachy arrived at Rockingham Bay from Port Denison (Bowen) about 14 January as one of 20 pioneer settlers.<sup>1</sup> According to specimen labels, Dallachy made his first plant collection on 14 January (dated in Dallachy's hand) of Acacia oraria.<sup>2</sup> He spent until about 8 March in the immediate vicinity of the Rockingham Bay settlement that was at first located about two km north of present-day Cardwell and that was later moved, on 26 January, to the present site of Cardwell.<sup>3</sup> George Dalrymple crossed the range at Dalrymple Gap (15–16 February) in an attempt to forge a road to the Valley of Lagoons but Dallachy was not in his party according to Dalrymple's report.<sup>4</sup> Excursions were subsequently made by Dallachy into Coast Range (Cardwell Range) (c. 22 February)<sup>5</sup> and 'Peak Range' (Elphinstone Range) (1–2 March) assumed to be what is now known locally as the 'Seven Sisters',<sup>6</sup> a low range immediately to the west of Cardwell. Dalrymple's party reached the Valley of <sup>1</sup> Different dates are given for this event: George Dalrymple reported departing Bowen on 15 January 1864, and landing at Rockingham Bay on 22 January 1864; James Morrill departing Bowen 14 January, landing 22 January; Arthur Scott, departing Bowen 7 January, landing 14 January; Dallachy gave his first collecting date at Rockingham Bay as 14 January.

<sup>4</sup> But see Morrill (1864), in which it is claimed that Dallachy was in the group that forged the first track to the Valley of Lagoons. This appears incorrect as no specimens were collected by Dallachy at that location at that time and according to the dates on his collection labels he remained at Rockingham Bay.

Lagoons on 1 March and commenced the return trip on 8 March. In early April Dallachy travelled to Dalrymple Gap for the first time (7–14 April)<sup>7</sup> before returning to Rockingham Bay (15 April – 2 May).<sup>8</sup> Meanwhile, Dalrymple's party had arrived back at Rockingham Bay from the Valley of Lagoons (24 April). Dallachy took a second visit to Dalrymple Gap in early May, and proceeded over the range onto Herbert River-Seaview Range (16 May–10 June),<sup>9</sup> returning briefly to Dalrymple Creek (10–16 June)<sup>10</sup> before taking the track that Dalrymple established to the Valley of Lagoons (17 June).<sup>11</sup> He reached there about 21 June. Dallachy returned to Herbert River via Mount Graham (25 June)<sup>12</sup> and Seaview Range (30 June–21 July).<sup>13</sup> He arrived in Rockingham Bay in early August.<sup>14</sup> Meanwhile, Cardwell had been gazetted a town (8 July). Dallachy then spent the first two weeks of August at Cardwell,<sup>15</sup> and subsequently visited the Family Islands (28–29 August)<sup>16</sup> and returned to the mainland to collect in the Saltwater Creek area during the first week of September.<sup>17</sup> He revisited the Family Islands and Tam O'Shanter Point (25 September–3 October)<sup>18</sup> returning to the mainland on about 9 October. About 14 October, Dallachy travelled to Five Mile Creek (15–17 October),<sup>19</sup> Damper Creek (18–19 October)<sup>20</sup> and onto Dalrymple Gap and Dalrymple Creek (20–26 October),<sup>21</sup> visiting Broadwater Creek (27–29 October)<sup>22</sup> and then spent most of November at Seaview Range and
