

REPRODUCTION, FERTILITY AND DEVELOPMENT

publish.csiro.au/rd

➤ SCOPE

Reproduction, Fertility and Development is an international journal for the publication of original and significant contributions to the field of reproductive biology in vertebrate animals, including humans, livestock and wildlife.

Subject areas include, but are not limited to: physiology, biochemistry, cellular and molecular biology, genetics and epigenetics, behaviour, developmental biology, immunology and endocrinology. Our readers are interested in novel developments in reproductive technology, but rarely in clinical science or clinical application of artificial reproductive technology. We are interested in environmental influences on reproduction, including the effects of endocrine disrupting chemicals (EDCs), but rarely publish toxicology or the effects of uncharacterised mixes of chemicals, such as plant extracts, unless the active ingredient is fully defined and the mechanism of action is provided.

JOURNAL METRICS

> METRICS

These metrics are shared as a way of quantifying the impact this journal has on the research community. However, they should always be considered in the context of how they are calculated, and we emphasise that none of these journal-level metrics should be used to judge the impact of an individual article or author, or their research outputs.
