

Interchange of humpback whales (Megaptera novaeangliae) between northern Philippines and Ogasawara, Japan, has implications for conservation

Shotaro Nakagun ^{A,F}, Laetitia I. Smoll^{A,B}, Takayuki Sato^C,
Cynthia A. A. Layusa^{A,D} and Jo Marie V. Acebes^{A,E}

^ABALYENA.ORG, Paseo del Mar, Brgy Pangdan, Jagna, Bohol 6308, Philippines.

^BSchool of Biological Sciences, The University of Queensland, St Lucia, Qld 4072, Australia.

^CEverlasting Nature of Asia (ELNA), Byobudani, Chichijima, Ogasawara, Tokyo 100-2101, Japan.

^DISLA Biodiversity Conservation, Inc., Bougainvillea Street, Las Piñas City, Manila 1740, Philippines.

^ENational Museum of the Philippines, Padre Burgos Street, Ermita, Manila 2004, Philippines.

^FCorresponding author. Email: snakagun@gmail.com

