

PACIFIC CONSERVATION BIOLOGY

Volume 25 • Issue 4 • 2019

---

CONTENTS

EDITORIAL

Good reviewers make a good journal

M. Calver

329

REVIEW

Overlooked and undervalued: the neglected role of fauna and a global bias in ecological restoration assessments

S. L. Cross, S. Tomlinson, M. D. Craig, K. W. Dixon and P. W. Bateman

331

PERSPECTIVES

Growing citizen science for conservation to support diverse project objectives and the motivations of volunteers

S. Orchard

342

Geographical bias constrains global knowledge of phenological change

N. Butt

345

How an Indigenous community responded to the incursion and spread of myrtle rust (Austropuccinia psidii) that threatens culturally significant plant species – a case study from New Zealand

A. Black, M. Mark-Shadbolt, G. Garner, J. Green, T. Malcolm, A. Marsh, H. Ropata, N. Waipara and W. Wood

348

Agriculture and conservation: an oxymoron or a necessity?

D. A. Saunders

355

RESEARCH PAPERS

Community dynamics in Fijian coral reef fish communities vary with conservation and shark-based tourism

M. G. McKeon and J. A. Drew

363

Spatial and temporal patterns of reptile roadkill in the north-west Australian tropics

H. Hastings, J. Barr and P. W. Bateman

370

Agriculture, broilgas and Australian sarus cranes on the Atherton Tablelands, Australia

T. D. Nevard, D. C. Franklin, I. Leiper, G. Archibald and S. T. Garnett

377

Achieving forest conservation in Fiji through payment for ecosystem services schemes

S. Mangubhai and R. Lumelume

386

Camera trapping and transect counts yield complementary insights into an endangered island endemic rail

E. Znidersic, T. Flores, I. Macrae, J. C. Z. Woinarski and D. M. Watson

394

Age, growth and maturity of the Australian blackspot shark (Carcharhinus coatesi) in the Gulf of Papua

L. Baje, J. J. Smart, M. I. Grant, A. Chin, W. T. White and C. A. Simpfendorfer

403

A snapshot of changes in graziers' management and attitudes towards dingoes over 60 years

L. M. van Eeden, C. R. Dickman, M. S. Crowther and T. M. Newsome

413

FIELD NOTES

Movement of juvenile barramundi (Lates calcarifer) through a cone ramp fishway at a modified coastal wetland in central Queensland, Australia

T. Power, M. Moore and J. McCann

421

Predation on green sea turtle, Chelonia mydas, hatchlings by invasive rats

M. Gronwald, Q. Genet and M. Touren

423

Book reviews

425