

PACIFIC CONSERVATION BIOLOGY

Volume 26 • Issue 1 • 2020

CONTENTS

EDITORIAL

Are you planning a Special Issue?

M. Calver

1

PERSPECTIVE

Improving the management of Australia's biodiversity through better synergy between private and public protected areas – a response to Australia's biodiversity loss

S. Heise-Pavlov

3

RESEARCH PAPERS

Testing multichambered bat box designs in a habitat-offset area in eastern Australia: influence of material, colour, size and box host

N. Rueegger, R. Goldingay, B. Law and L. Gonsalves

13

Factors affecting nestling condition and timing of egg-laying in the endangered Carnaby's cockatoo, Calyptorhynchus latirostris

D. A. Saunders, R. Dawson, P. R. Mawson and A. O. Nicholls

22

Understanding attitudes on new technologies to manage invasive species

N. Kirk, R. Kannemeyer, A. Greenaway, E. MacDonald and D. Stronge

35

The habitat and management of hairy jointgrass (Arthraxon hispidus, Poaceae) on the north coast of New South Wales, Australia

L. White, C. Catterall and K. Taffs

45

Exploitative competition between desert kit foxes and coyotes in the Mojave Desert

E. C. Kelly, B. L. Cypher and D. J. Germano

57

Selecting a suite of potential partner sites for the Adelaide International Bird Sanctuary to aid shorebird conservation in the East Asian–Australasian Flyway

D. W. Mehlman, J. A. Fitzsimons, A. Irving, J. Irving and B. Hancock

67

Reservoirs act as footholds for an invasive freshwater crayfish

S. J. Beatty, A. Ramsay, A. M. Pinder and D. L. Morgan

78

Colonisation of a site by despotic bell miners: dispersal, establishment and diversity influences of banded birds

K. T. A. Lambert and A. Leishman

84

RESEARCH NOTE

Detection of ranavirus in endemic and threatened amphibian populations of the Australian Wet Tropics Region

F. J. Wynne

93

FIELD NOTES

Preliminary observations of corallivorous Drupella cornus feeding aggregations at Rottnest Island, Western Australia

V. M. Haslam and M. van Keulen

98

Verified records of Kuhl's devil ray (Mobula kuhlii) in the Solomon Islands from citizen scientists

A. Chin, C. Rigby, A. Short and W. T. White

100

Book review

102